Class meets Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30 p.m. to 4:50 p.m. in Sequoia Hall 147

Office hours: Tuesdays 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Please do not send me e-mail messages unless you are facing a true emergency. Instead, catch me before or after class and speak to me in person, or call me in my office during my office hours. I will read the mail folder on our website quite regularly and you can send me a message there.

Course description. Topics include the political emancipation of the Jews of Europe; the emergence of Reform, Conservative, and modern Orthodox Judaism, Hassidism, modern antisemitism, Jewish socialism, Zionism, the Holocaust, the American Jewish story, and the founding of the State of Israel.

In-class etiquette. Students should do the reading and come to class regularly. It is rude to come late to class and to leave early. Your schedule should be free for the entire class time. Do not miss class unless you are very ill; your absence is noted even if attendance is not taken. Nothing substitutes for the collective learning experience. Power point presentations are a privilege for those who attend class and will not be available on our website.

Please do not open your laptops during class. Too many UC San Diego students take the opportunity to check their e-mail or shop during class. Experience the old-fashioned joy of notebooks and pens.

Requirements

- Write a ten-page essay due on March 8. Late essays will not be accepted without prior arrangements. No electronic submissions please. You may write about one of the themes of a lecture or a theme in one of the class texts. You may use a novel, a play, a film, an interview in the Visual History Archive or primary sources located on the JewishGen website. Whatever nontraditional sources you use, you MUST also use either a traditional historical monograph, four scholarly articles, or a biography.

To use the Visual History Archive, visit the website at libraries.ucsd.edu/hlhw, and consult with the project director, Dr. Susanne Hillman, office in the library, office hours Wednesdays 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., call at (858) 534-4661, or shillman@ucsd.edu. If you use one of these testimonies, the topic of your research will fall into the twentieth-century section of the course, and probably into the Holocaust topic. The following testimonies are recommended: Werner Caspari; Frank Marshall; Henry Rubenstein; Werner Salomon; Margret Hirschfeld; Ruth Oppenheim; Edith Schindel. Dr. Hillman has many other testimonies to suggest depending on your research interests.

If you would like to focus your research on a particular town, village, region, or family, visit the Jewishgen.org website to view a fascinating trove of primary source material.

You are responsible for the selection of the topic and creating the bibliography for your essay. For many sessions of class there is a short list of personalities and events for you to consider as paper topics. Be sure to check your topic with the professor. There will be one in-class opportunity for students to work with other students on planning their papers, on January 24.

Double-space your essay and use footnotes or endnotes for referencing direct quotes or interpretations. If you use the Visual History Archive or a film or a primary source document you find on Jewishgen.org for your paper topic, you may make a presentation to the class on either March 1 or March 6. These presentations do not earn you any extra credit but nonetheless they will be fun and add to the knowledge of the other students!!!!

- In-class essay midterm examination on February 14. You will choose two essays out of a possible ten or more choices. Questions will not be distributed in advance. Make-up examinations will not be given unless prior arrangements have been made and you are facing an absolutely dire emergency.

- Final essay examination during Final's Week on March 20, Tuesday, from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., in our classroom.

- We have a website for the class, which will be used for class announcements, mail to the professor, and discussion between students. You will also have a chance to discuss the various public events in San Diego and on campus that are recommended for students. Although your postings on the website do not officially earn you extra credit, if your grade is on the border between two grades, your postings on the website will help lift up your final grade. The address is <http://ted.ucsd.edu>. Contact the Academic Computing Office at 4-4061 or 4-2113 if you have any problems using the site.
